

100 years of swing

Phil Landsberg and Friends make up the band. "100 Years of Swing" is one of the few remaining small bands playing the music of the big band era. We have collectively worked with many of the bands that were popular during that era of the history of our country's very own music. This is the dance music the older members of our community were dancing to before, during and after World War II.

This type of dance music is heard regularly at Senior Citizen Centers all over the Metroplex, as well as at the Stardust Ballroom, Sokol Halls, and the Four Seasons Ballroom.

Our band is often asked to play this type of swing music at private parties and weddings.

We are a long time member of the Musicians Union, and often get calls from Union officials to provide this and other types of music.

Also, we are at your service to assist when booking other types of music such as Country Western, Top Forty, Rock and Roll, Klezmer, Jazz, and Boroque including String Trios and quartets.
